RAW BONE PHOSPHATE,
containing 55 per cent. of Phosphate of Lime, and 45 per cent. Anomonia.
It should be borne in mind that the Phosphate of Lime in this article being obtained exclusively from RAW BONES and a TRUE BIRD GUANO, there is NO PORTION OF IT IMPERFECT, as is the case of SUPER-PHOSPHATES made from MINERAL GU-ANOS—but being entirely SOLUBLE in the SOIL, continues to IMPART ITS FERTILIZING QUALITY to the CROPS for YEARS.
THE REMARKABLE SUCCESS which has attended its use for years past, is a sufficient GUARANTEE to induce those who have not tried it to do so.
THE GRAIN CROP where this FERTILIZER has been applied is supposed to have been IN-CREASED from 25 to 50 per cent. by its use, while for TOMATOES and GRASS LANDS its success has been EQUALLY DECIDED.

A STANDARD POLITICAL WORK

McPHERSON'S
Political History of the Rebellion.

THE Political History of the United States during the Rebellion—extending from November 6, 1864, to July 4, 1865, by HON.
EDWARD MCPHERSON, Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States, is destined to become a standard authority concerning these stirring times, and is among the most useful and interesting books now before the public.

It contains the various STATE PAPERS of the period—Executive, Judicial, and Legislative—and those of the Military which bear upon political questions; also the Proposals submitted to, and the Laws enacted by Congress, with the vote in each House, upon every leading question, such as Confiscation, Arrests, Habeas Corpus, Compensated Emancipation, and every phase of the Slavery Question; also the "Legal Tender," State Taxation, and other features of our Financial Legislation, with Tables of the National and Rebel Debt, all the Military Legislation, including every Proposition and vote at the late Session respecting the Draft, and all the Proposals for the last four years, in reference to the Objects of the War and its Prosecution, to Peace and Reconstruction, with the votes thereon, in both the Union and Rebel Congresses—a record, of itself, worth the price of the book.

It also contains a full and fair record of the proceedings in and out of Congress, between the Presidential Election of 1860 and the breaking out of the War; including a statement of each Adjustment Proposition made, and votes taken, and all other data necessary to give a clear view of the entire history of the war, and its relations to the Union and Rebel Administrations, and Congresses, with the changes therein, and such of the Rebel Legislation, and Judicial Rulings, as throw light upon the progress of the war, forming a magazine of facts arranged in logical order, or grouped in natural harmony, and constituting a most valuable contribution to the historical literature of the country.

In all the votes, parties are classified.
The Index is thorough, both as to names and subjects, giving the reader entire command of the contents.

WATCH, MOTHER.

Mother, watch the little feet Climbing over the garden wall, Bounding through the busy street.
Running, color, and and hall;
Never mind the moment lost;
Never mind the time it cost; Little feet will go as fast Gaining them, mother, while you may.

Mother! watch the little hand Picking berries by the way, Making houses in the sand, Tossing up the fragrant hay; Never dare the question ask "Why to me the very task?"
These same little hands may prove Messengers of light and love.

Mother! watch the little tongue, Prating eloquent and wild, What is said and what is told;
Sowing seeds, happy child, Catch the word while yet unspoken Step the word while yet unspoken This same tongue will be broken Under the silence of the silent night.

Mother! watch the little heart, Beating soft and warm for you;
Wholesome lessons now impart; Keep, O keep, that young heart true!
Exulting over every word,
Sowing good and precious seed; Hastest rich on then may see Ripen for eternity.

DESERTED.

The river flowed past with the light on its breast, And the weeds were eddying on,
And the round red sun sank down in the West, When my love's loving lips to mine were pressed, Under the evening sky.

Sowing good and precious seed,
For my love has left me this many a day, Left me to droop and die!

As the river flowed then, the river flows still,
In ripple and foam and spray,
On the church, and round the old mill,
And under the shade of the old mill mill,
And out to the fading day.

Oh, river, run fast! Oh, river, run fast!
Oh, river, run fast! Oh, river, run fast!
For the sun has gone down on my beautiful past,
And the hopes that the light of the waters have cast, Have faded away like the day.

So the river flows on, and the day is done,
And my lips still murmur the name of one Who will never come back to me.

Miscellaneous.

The Unseen Witness.

There is a little machine made something like a clock, which can be fastened on a carriage, and in some way connected with the motion of the wheels. It is so arranged that it works off correctly the number of miles since the carriage was started. A student once had one upon a carriage that he kept for letting, and by these means he could tell just how many miles any one went who hired it of him.

Two young men once hired it to go to a town some ten miles distant. Instead of simply going and returning, as they proposed to do, they rode to another town some five miles further, making the distance they passed over, and coming, some thirty miles.

When they returned, the owner of the establishment, without being noticed by the young men, glanced upon the face of the measuring instrument, and discovered how many miles they had travelled.

"Where have you been?" he then asked them.

"Where we were going," was the answer.

"Have you not been further than that?"

"O, no," they answered.

"How many miles have you been in all?"

"Twenty."

He touched the spring, the cover opened, and there on the face of the instrument the thirty miles were found recorded.

The young men were astonished at this unerring testimony of an unseen witness that they had carried with them all the way.

Thus has God placed a recording witness in our hearts. Wherever we go, we carry it with us. He keeps it wound up and in order. Without our thinking of it, it records all our acts, all our words, and all our thoughts.

We sometimes seek to deceive our friends, but the truth is recorded in our hearts. By and by God will touch the spring, and all that is written there will then be seen—Many things we do we should not, if we knew the eye of another person were looking upon us.

We always carry a witness with us A little boy was urged by an older person to do an act that was wrong. He was told that no one would know it. "Yes," said the boy, "I know it, but I will do it."
"I will tell you," said the little fellow, "my self will know it."

We cannot dismiss the witness God has fastened it to our minds. It is our conscience, and whatever our lips may deny, it will always tell the truth. If we should attempt, in the great day when God judges the world, to deny our action there, upon our hearts they will appear, written down, when we will not know it, by the unseen witness that God has made to accompany us every step in our life.

Think daily, little readers of that instrument which we carry with us, out of sight, on which is written everything we do and say.

Think how we will feel when God opens it: that its records may be seen by all the world.

As one single drop of black ink will tinge and pollute a vessel of crystal water, so one little act of faithlessness may irre-deemably poison a whole lifetime of the purest friendship and confidence.

Scarcely anything in life is so sweet as the repose of Sunday—the soothing suggestions of its devotional offices, its silence, its calm, its immunities.

A lady's dressing table is perhaps called a toilet, because it is there most of her toil is generally performed.

Social Evils.

We extract from the Athletic Monthly the following paragraphs. The strictures of the writer are none too severe:

What a glaring inconsistency is there manifested in the toleration at one time of a posture which, under any other circumstances, would blast a reputation! No pure woman would suffer a man to retain her hand in his, much less to encircle her with his arm, in the ordinary relations of social life; and yet, at the bidding of fashion, and because the additional stimulus of music is super added, she will not only permit these liberties, but will remain willingly strained to his breast for a quarter of an hour at a time, publicly exhibiting herself in a position which in itself she virtuously condemns; favors, which would properly be denied to the most favorable of her acquaintance off the dancing floor, are there accorded freely even to a notorious libertine, for no guaranty is required from those to whom fashion intrusts the persons of her female devotees, further than proficiency in an art chiefly acquired by young men through association with the most degraded of the other sex, all mental or moral disqualification being redeemed by the single virtue of dancing well. Many a young girl, who intuitively shrinks from the endearments innocently proffered by her affianced lover, unthinkingly subjects herself to the contaminating embrace and irreverent comment of debauched wittings, whose every thought is a concealed insult. Not that we would imply a sweeping censure upon the male portion of the community; for many, perhaps most—are gentlemen, and as such, incapable of harboring an idea repugnant to female purity.

But in so composite a society as ours some evil characters are inevitably introduced; and, even of those whose antecedents and position should rouse for their reticence, there are many whose coarse tastes and dissipated courses render their contact with virtuous women almost a sacrilege.

All's Right.

A Priest, who had been particularly recommended to the captain of a vessel, was sailing from France to America, when the captain, who saw that a storm was approaching, said to him:

"Father, you are not accustomed to the rolling of a vessel; you had better get down as fast as possible into the hold. As long as you hear the sailors swearing and blas-pheming, you may be assured that there are good hopes; but if you should hear them embracing and reconciling themselves to each other, you may make up your accounts with heaven."

As the storm increased, the Priest from time to time dispatched his companion to the hatchway to see how matters went up on deck.

"Alas! father," said he, returning, "all is lost. The sailors are swearing like demons; their very blasphemies are enough to sink the vessel."

"Oh! heaven be praised," said the Priest, "then all is right!"

A country "clap," who recently visited the city for the first time, gives his views of the ladies in this way: "Somewhere, in every circumstance of silk and velvet that wriggles along, there's always a loose, I suppose; but how much of the holier is filled in with meat, and how much is filled with gammon, the spectator can judge when he looks at the 'plum' and finds it in his arms but a regular anatomy. If man is gay deceivers, and to be made of the female, that dresses for a hundred and forty weight, but hasn't nearly as much fat would grease a griddle?—all the apparent plumpness consisting of cotton and whalebone."

An Irishman lost his hat in a well, and was let down in a bucket to recover it; the well being deep, and extremely dark, without his courage failed him before he reached the water. In vain did he call to those above to pull him up; they lent deaf ear to all he said, till at last, quite in-desp'ir, he bellowed out: "By St. Patrick, if you don't draw me up, sure I'll cut the repe."

A bachelor in Albany has about one baby a month left at his door, accompanied with the request that he "will charitably provide for it and bring it up righteously." An occasional baby in the regular honest way is undoubtedly a desirable present; but an attack of infanter by platoons, upon a poor unprotected bachelor, must be appalling to the last degree.

barking and growling. The owner was delighted and cried, "Sick 'em!" the dog disappeared at the same time. The joke rather tired on the owner.

A letter from Raleigh, N. C., says that a good story is told of a gallant Brigadier who made a visit to the Asylum for the deaf and dumb at that place, he being so much delighted that he sent his hand mates. The fact becoming known, he was importuned to invite the inmates of the Blind Asylum to see his next parade.

ly a purse, with the superscription, "I pay

Didn't Know His Own Baby.

A citizen of Jamaica Plain, Long Island, went to answer a ring at the door at the request of his wife, where he found nothing but a basket. On removing the cover a beautiful little child appeared, some five months old. The lady screamed, one of the lady's visitors took up the baby, and found a note pinned to its dress, which charged the gentleman with being its father and imploring him to support it. A rich scene ensued between the injured wife and indignant husband, the latter denying all knowledge of the little one, and asserting his innocence. The friend interfered, and at last she was induced to forgive her husband, though he stuck to it like a Trojan that he had always been a faithful husband. Finally the lady regisly told her husband it was strange he did not know his own child, for it was their mutual offspring which had just been taken from the cradle for the purpose of playing the joke.

Incident in the Early Life of Carl Schurz.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Times, under date of March 30th, takes the arrival in that city of the German poet, philosopher and patriot, Gotfried Kinkel, as the text for an incident in the European history of Carl Schurz, who is no less distinguished in this country than upon the continent. We quote as follows:

In the literature of Germany, Kinkel occupies a high position as a poet and historian. When the Revolution of 1848 broke out, he was a Professor at the University of Bonn, and his strong Democratic opinions induced him to take a prominent part in the struggle. He fought, was made prisoner by the royal authorities, was tried for treason, and was sentenced to many years' imprisonment at hard labor.

Among Kinkel's companions at this time was a young student, not yet twenty years of age, named Carl Schurz, who was also captured, tried by court-martial, and sentenced to be shot. Schurz, however, more fortunate than his Professor, succeeded in escaping across the French frontier, and was safe. Kinkel was sent to a common prison, placed among criminals of the vilest sort, and set to work making shoes. Young Germany, still trembling with the excitement of the recent Revolution, learned with indignation the treatment inflicted upon the eminent poet and scholar, and numerous petitions were sent to the Prussian Government, praying that his situation might be ameliorated. To all these authorities paid no attention whatever, the protestations ceased, and Kinkel seemed likely to be abandoned by his friends. There was one, however, who did not desert him. Carl Schurz left Paris, disguised himself in rags, and, defying the scaffold, re-entered Prussia, with an organ on his back. In the day, he begged his bread on the high road; at night, he laid aside his organ, and visited the abodes of his former companions and the friends of German liberty, to endeavor to re-awaken their interest in the fate of the imprisoned patriot. In this way he travelled three hundred leagues on foot, playing the organ through many towns and villages, carefully muzzling his plans, and sleeping in barns or under hedges. On one occasion he was stopped by two Prussian gendarmes, who inquired where he was going.

"To the neighboring town," replied Schurz.

"Would you like to earn a hundred or plennius?" asked the others.

"Certainly."

"Very well; come with us to our barracks. We intend to give a dance this evening, and the air of your organ will suit our purpose exactly."

It was impossible to decline the offer of the soldiers without exciting suspicion; so Schurz accepted, with a great show of gratitude, and during the whole night ground out waltzes and quadrilles for a battalion of gendarmes. Leaving undiscovered the dangerous society of the military police, young Schurz continued his journey, and a short time subsequently, information reached him that Kinkel's prison had been changed. He was now incarcerated at Spandau, and placed under the personal supervision of the prison director.

Late one night, when the streets had become deserted, a post chaise, escorted by a guard of four dragoons, drove rapidly through the town of Spandau, and halted before the prison. An officer, in the uniform of a Colonel of the Royal Guard, alighted from the vehicle, and was soon in the presence of the Director, into whose hands he placed a letter from the Minister of the Interior at Berlin, and bearing the official seal. Receiving the packet with the respect due to a communication from the King's Minister, the Director opened the important missive, and read as follows:

"A deep-laid plot has been organized at Berlin, the object of which is to effect the forcible release of the convict Kinkel, from the hands of the authorities. We are now watching the movements of the conspiratory, and are preparing to prevent the possibility of its success. The bearer of the present letter, Col. —, is commanded to take charge of your prisoner, whom he will immediately conduct to the citadel of Magdeburg, and place him in the hands of the Governor of that fortress."

Upon reading this ministerial injunction, the director of the Spandau prison at once caused him to be securely ironed and placed in the post chaise, which set off on the road to Magdeburg, accompanied by the Colonel and four dragoons, who rode with drawn sabres. All night long they traveled at rapid speed; fresh horses were instantly furnished at each relay, the Colonel's demand being accompanied by the magical expression, "the King's service." The unhappy prisoner, crouched in a corner of a vehicle, cared not what might be his fate —he merely forgot his name, and nothing could be worse than the noise and danger of Spandau. Morning came at last, a gray winter's dawn, and the carriage stopped. The Colonel himself opened the door, and bade the prisoner alight. Without a word, poor Kinkel obeyed,

THE SILVER SKIRT!

MORE DURABLE,
MORE ELASTIC,
AND WILL KEEP ITS SHAPE AND RETAIN ITS PLACE BETTER THAN ANY OTHER SKIRT.

This new and beautiful style of Skirt (Patented March 7, 1865,) was awarded by the Great American Institute Fair, held in New York, October, 1865.

A SILVER MEDAL!
the highest premium ever given for a Hoop Skirt.

The Steel Springs are wound with a fine plated wire (in place of a cotton covering) which will not wear off or become soiled, and the whole Skirt may be washed without injury or rusting, and will be as good as new.

THE COMBINATION SILVER SKIRT!
This invention combines with the ordinary cotton Skirt the advantages of the Silver Skirt; the bottom being the same as those used in the Silver Skirt, the covering of which cannot wear off, while the upper ones are covered with cotton. No lady having once worn one of our Skirts will be willing to wear any other, as the lower hoops of all other kinds are soon injured and soiled.

The best materials are used in their construction, and from their durability and neatness, they are destined to become

NEW SKIRT FOR 1866.

THE GREAT INVENTION OF THE AGE IN HOOP SKIRTS.

J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (or double) SPRING SKIRT.

THIS Invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Pure Refined Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable Spring ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful Shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Pews, Arm-chairs, for Promenade and Church Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress.

A Lady having Enjoyed the Pleasure, Comfort and Great Convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Ladies and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted thread and will wear twice as long as the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every Skirt are also Double Steel and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when sagging down stairs, stone steps, etc., etc., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant Corded Tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect Shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

WEST'S BRADLEY & GARY, Proprietors of the Invention, and Sole Manufacturers, 97 Chambers, and 79 & 81 Reade Streets, New York.

For Sale in all first-class Stores in this City, and throughout the United States and Canada, Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America and the West Indies.

BARRON'S SAFETY LAMPS, AND LIG-RO-INE (Red) FLUID.

PATENTED.

THIS Lamp apparently burns without any thing to feed it. It has, however, a material, which absorbs the heat and gives to the flame, partly in the form of gas, but so as to produce perfect combustion, and is very economical and safe. It is used without a chimney, and perfectly trimmed, does not smoke or smell; it is therefore especially adapted to the purposes of a "readily" lighted lamp, for use in a lamp, or lantern. The cost of broken chimneys, alone, will more than pay the cost of this lamp. Every family needs one or more.

"It is just what I have been long looking for," writes a model house-keeper.

"I should hardly know how to do without it," writes another.

"A perfect contrivance," writes a third.

"Let those who are skeptical try it," writes a fourth.

For sale by JOHN M. SWAN, Cor. of Diamond and Chambersburg St.

The Lig-ro-ine fluid also for sale at the same place.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Importance of Having Davis' Pain Killer Always on Hand.

Wonderful Cure of the Rev. D. L. Brayton, Missionary in India, who was stung by a Scorpion.

Extract from his letter, published in the Baptist Missionary Magazine:
"For the first time since I have been in India, I have been stung by a scorpion. I went out this morning to my exercises, as usual, at early dawn, and having occasion to use an old box, on taking off the cover I put my hand on a scorpion, which immediately resented the insult by thrusting its sting into the palm of my hand. This instantaneous and severe pain which was felt through the system is quite incredible; what an awful violent poison their sting must contain! I flew to my bottle of DAVIS' PAIN KILLER, and found it to be true to its name. After a woman's relief, I saturated a small piece of sponge, bound it on my hand, and went about my exercises, feeling no more particular inconvenience." [May 8-1m.]

THE GROVESTEEN PIANO FORTE still retains its pre-eminence and great popularity, and after undergoing gradual improvement for a period of this year, is now pronounced by the musical world to be unsurpassed and even unequalled in richness, volume, and purity of tone, durability and cheapness. Our new scale, French action, harp pedal, iron frame, over-strung bass, seven octave, rosewood pianos we are selling, cheaper by far from 100 to $200 than the same style and finish are sold by any other first-class makers in the country. Dealers and all in want of good pianos are invited to send for our Descriptive Catalogue, which contains photographs of our different styles, together with prices. No one should purchase a piano without seeing this Catalogue. Medals, almost without number, have been awarded to the Grovesteen Piano, and at the Celebrated World's Fair, though put in competition with others from all parts of Europe and the United States, it took the highest award.

MOWERS AND REAPERS.

THE undersigned is still Agent for the sale of MOWING AND REAPING MACHINES—both combined and single Mowers. These machines can be used as Self-Rakers or Hand Rakers, as farmers may wish. They are made with two cutters bars, one for cutting grain with sickle knife—cutting five feet nine inches wide—and extra bar, with two knives, for grass—cutting four feet six inches wide, having iron or wooden frames as desired. They have two drive wheels and flexible finger bar. The country building these machines have secured by lease and purchase, the control of all the desirable and standard patents now in use, among which are the OHIO AND BUCKEYE PATENTS, to which we direct special attention. In compactness, lightness of draft, excellence of workmanship and finish, combined with great strength and adaptation to all kinds of work, they will compete with and we believe, surpass any other machine now offered to the public.
Farmers would do well to examine these machines before purchasing any other. They will be sold as cheap as any other first-class machine now manufactured, and we warrant them to give entire satisfaction or no sale.
EXTRAS ALWAYS KEPT ON HAND.
Specimens can be seen by calling on the Agent, residing on the Harrisburg road, two miles north-east of Gettysburg.
WILLIAM WIBLE, Agent.
